THOMAS HEADS WINNER OF TOURNAMENT PRIZE

Knight of Munson Hall, Va., Selects Miss Julia Stewart as the Queen.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

FOREST GLEN, Md., July 29.—The annual tournament held under the auspices of famous old St. John's church at this place was the mecca for more than 3,000 persons yesterday, the event being held on the grounds where for more than a century the knights of Maryland and Virginia have competed for honors of the day. Yesterday's tournament was probably the most successful in recent years. From early morning until late in the evening the crowd increased, and it was not until the rain began to fall later in the night that it began to disperse. Father Rosensteel, pastor of the church, who has directed the tournament for twenty-six years, was again in charge of the event, and stated this morning that more than $800 was realized for the Forest Glen parish.

The tournament proper was a stubbornly contested, knights from several Maryland counties competing with riders from Virginia. So expert were the cavaliers that the elimination trials were long drawn out, it taking more than two hours to pick the winner.

Honors to Virginia.
Honors went to Virginia, Thomas Head of Munson Hill, who rode as the Knight of Munson Hill, winning first prize and the right to pick the queen of the tournament. The Knight of Arlington, Seymour H. Henson of Bancroft, Va., won second place; Lucifer Love, Knight of Maryland Boy, was a close competitor and received third place, while the Knight of Berwyn, William Aitchison, was awarded fourth prize.

The tournament proper was under the direction of Douglas N. Blanford of Silver Spring and the judges and timers were Michael Cummings, Alfred Ray and Joseph M. Etchison. Following the riding and the picking of the winner, great interest attached to the selection of the queen of love and beauty by the victorious knight. Her identity was not determined until night, when the coronation ceremonies took place in the pavilion. The honor was bestowed on Miss Julia Stewart of McLean, Va., and the knights winning second, third and fourth prizes selected their wives as the maids of honor. Alexander Kilgore addressed the queen and her court, after which the victorious cavaliers and their ladies participated in the royal dance. The crowds attending the tournament participated in the dancing until a late hour, when the event formally was brought to a close.

Assisting in Tournament.
Those assisting at the tournament were Frank L. Hewitt, Oliver Clark, Paul Clark, F. T. Clark, William Juvenal, Joseph Sullivan, William Sullivan, William Kelly, Levromy Smith, Michael Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burgess, Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Herbert Cissell, Miss Rose Clark, Miss Marion Cissell, Mrs. J. D. Cougill, Mr. William A. Pierce, Mrs. F. T. Clark, Miss Agnes Fenwick, Miss Bettie Fenwick, Miss C. Buckley, Miss Katherine Butler, Mrs. Donovan, Mrs. K. E. Sweeney, Mrs. Henry Simpson, Mrs. C. E. Stubbs, Mrs. John N. Kelly, Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, Mrs. Eslin, Miss Ireland, Miss Helen Kengia, Miss Florence Kengia, Miss Alice Selby, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Peter, Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. William Kelley.

TRUST INCOMES TAXABLE.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Makes Ruling.

Income of trust estates is subject to the income tax and where received annually by a beneficiary the fiduciary must withhold the normal tax, according to a ruling made by the commissioner of the internal revenue.

Undistributed annual income from trust estates, the ruling says, "becomes an entity," liable for the normal and additional tax to be paid by the fiduciary. When a beneficiary receives only part of the income due the normal tax must be withheld on the sum paid and income retained must be treated as taxable to the estate for both the normal and additional tax to be paid by the fiduciary.

Upon filing notice with other debtors or withholding agents fiduciaries shall be exempt from having income due to them as such withheld by any other agent.
